

Introducing Pastor Rick and CJ Moyer

With perseverance, love, and unshakable faith, CJ shares personal experiences and proven strategies to help survivors of trauma and abuse, sex trafficking, and satanic ritual abuse (SRA). Through this book and her ministry, she hopes to reach women everywhere who are looking to recover, along with family members and clergy interested in loving someone through an incredibly difficult process. CJ's compassion and true understanding of what it's like to make it out of an abusive situation shine through in everything she does, serving as a source of healing strength for others on similar journeys. She lives by Romans 5:5 (NIV)

In addition to her work as a pastor, CJ serves as a dementia care specialist. Early in her career, she made ends meet as a professional make-up artist and skincare specialist. She studied practical nursing and worked as a medical assistant while raising her son-of whom she is very proud.

Pastor Rick shares a piece of the intensely personal story written in this book with grace and honesty in hopes that it will inspire others to discover God's healing love along their individual journey to wholeness. Involved in ministry for more than thirty-five years, Pastor Rick witnessed God grow the small church he attended as a teenager to a ministry of over 5,000 members, where he served on staff for over two decades. He's driven by a passion for teaching the Word and mentoring fellow leaders.

A dad to seven children, Pastor Rick's fatherly nature extends beyond his family to all he meets with an overwhelming desire to transfer God's fatherly heart to them. A lifelong student, Pastor Rick thrives on learning how God's spirit moves, heals, and transforms people's lives.

Both Pastors, often work together ministering and counseling those in need of unconditional love and acceptance.
